

Your task today is to plan your own expedition. It is up to you to decide:

- What you are going to discover/explore.
- Who you would like to come on your expedition and why you have chosen them.
- What supplies and equipment you are going to take with you.
- What your mode of transport will be.

You can have as much fun as you like with this and present it in any way you want to.

- You can present it in the style of the book we are reading about Shackleton's journey where there are lots of pictures used.
- You could present it like a map of the journey so far (you could then add to your map as we learn about his story)
- Use the back of an old roll of wallpaper, lining paper or any large sheet of paper so you have lots of room.

Headings and subheadings are a useful way to organise your ideas.

This will be the first part of your work on Shackleton, you will be adding to this as we learn more so keep it safe!
